These absorb and carry to the soil a liquid manure which contains 75% of the fertilizing qualities of the whole, and they decompose very rapidly; whereas sawdust of natural hard woods is objectionable stable bedding in that it will sour and burn the soil and decompose slowly.

BASEBALL?

Whether or not Brattleboro shall be represented by a baseball team in the Twin State league this summer is a question that must be given immediate attention by the people of the town. The letter from the directors of the local association, printed in another column, puts the matter frankly before the sport loving public, and the answer should be equally frank as well as prompt. The Reformer believes that the appeal of the baseball association will meet with a generous response, and if based this belief on a firm conviction that the business interests of the town appreciate what baseball means to the community through the summer.

It is not necessary to dwell on the enjoyment which the sport furnishes; for those acquainted with the fascination of the national game no such explanation is required. It may not be out of place, however, to point out why the pleasure which baseball provides is a valuable asset to the community. To begin with it attracts many people from adjoining towns, and the visits which they make by reason of this attraction seldom fail to result in financial benefit to somebody within the town. But more important still is the contentment inspired by frequent opportunity to witness games. Employers in a town that supports baseball during the summer know from experience that their workmen find in the sport an interest that tends to offset the desire to spend the week-end where there is "more doing." And a few hours at a game, even in times when business is rushing, curtails production only in a slight degree as compared with journeys out of town and their not infrequent consequences. In short, baseball is a bracing tonic for the summer months—a remedy for that tired feeling which is likely to assail us all in hot weather and make us dissatisfied with our lot. Brattleboro has tried this medicine for the past two years and can testify to its value when procured at a reasonable price. The Reformer does not believe the people of the town are prepared to worry through the approaching season without having the prescription refilled.

The Barre Times says the proposed removal of the state tax commissioner's office from Burlington to Northfield will place the office several miles nearer the place where it ought to be—Montpelier, and adds that all such offices ought to be located in the capital city. This is theoretically true, but such an arrangement would be more convenient in fact if the capital were located on a main line of railroad.

Senator F. H. Babbitt is another legislator who believes in a liberal construction of the new tax law. In a letter to the editor of the Morrisville Messenger he expresses the opinion that the intention of the legislature was to exempt credit as well as money, and adds that "any other interpretation or administration of this tax exemption feature would be erroneous and decidedly detrimental to the business interests of Vermont."

Somebody on the Montpelier Journal calls attention to the fact that the operation of a lawn-mower at 5:30 a. m. is a noisy and insistent nuisance. But it isn't much worse than the young man who practices on the cornet every evening.

Vermont's new educational commission has reached the conclusion that the condition in educational lines in the small towns is no worse in this state than anywhere else. Well, well! That's certainly encouraging.

Go, and vote for the new charter.

Village meeting tonight.

Criticizes the Umpire.

(Bennington Banner.)
Fuller C. Smith of St. Albans, who is an advocate of trunk line highways, wrote a series of arguments on the subject in the Burlington Free Press, and that paper replied with some criticisms of the plans proposed. The last we noticed the discussion had degenerated to the point where the Free Press was saying something about the multiplicity of public offices which Mr. Smith has held, and the latter handed back a scornful retort about the plum which the editor of the Free Press has reached for without touching. As a volunteer referee we award the decision to Mr. Smith on points.—Brattleboro Reformer.

It is always proper to quarrel with the umpire and as a good roads fan we disagree with the self appointed referee. As long as the discussion was confined to roads the Free Press had the best of the argument. Only when it came to twitting on unpleasant, personal facts did the St. Albans man score a single run.

Occasionally a fool is quite successful, and has a good business or a good job, and you wonder how he did it.

CUT HIS THROAT WHILE ON TRAIN

C. A. Jimmo Found Sawing Away at His Wrist After Attempting to Sever Jugular Vein.

RUTLAND, May 6.—The knife is too dull. Let me take yours, will you? was the nonchalant request of C. A. Jimmo of Sewickley, Pa., when Station Master Henry C. Brislin found the man busily sawing away on his wrist, after having made two ugly gashes in his throat, in a lavatory of train 49, due in this city from Troy, N. Y., at 1:45 p. m. yesterday, when Mr. Brislin went through the car on the usual inspection. Jimmo had already answered that he was trying to kill himself in response to an enquiry from Mr. Brislin as to what he was doing when the station master caught sight of him through the lavatory door.

Mr. Brislin disarmed the would be suicide and escorted him to the depot and Chief of Police Jesse Young and Sergeant James M. Hamilton were called. While he was in the room there Jimmo, after expostulating with the men with him for putting a tourniquet on his wrist, pulled it off at the first opportunity and again tried to kill himself.

The man was taken to the police station and thence to the office of Dr. Hamilton, where the wounds were dressed.

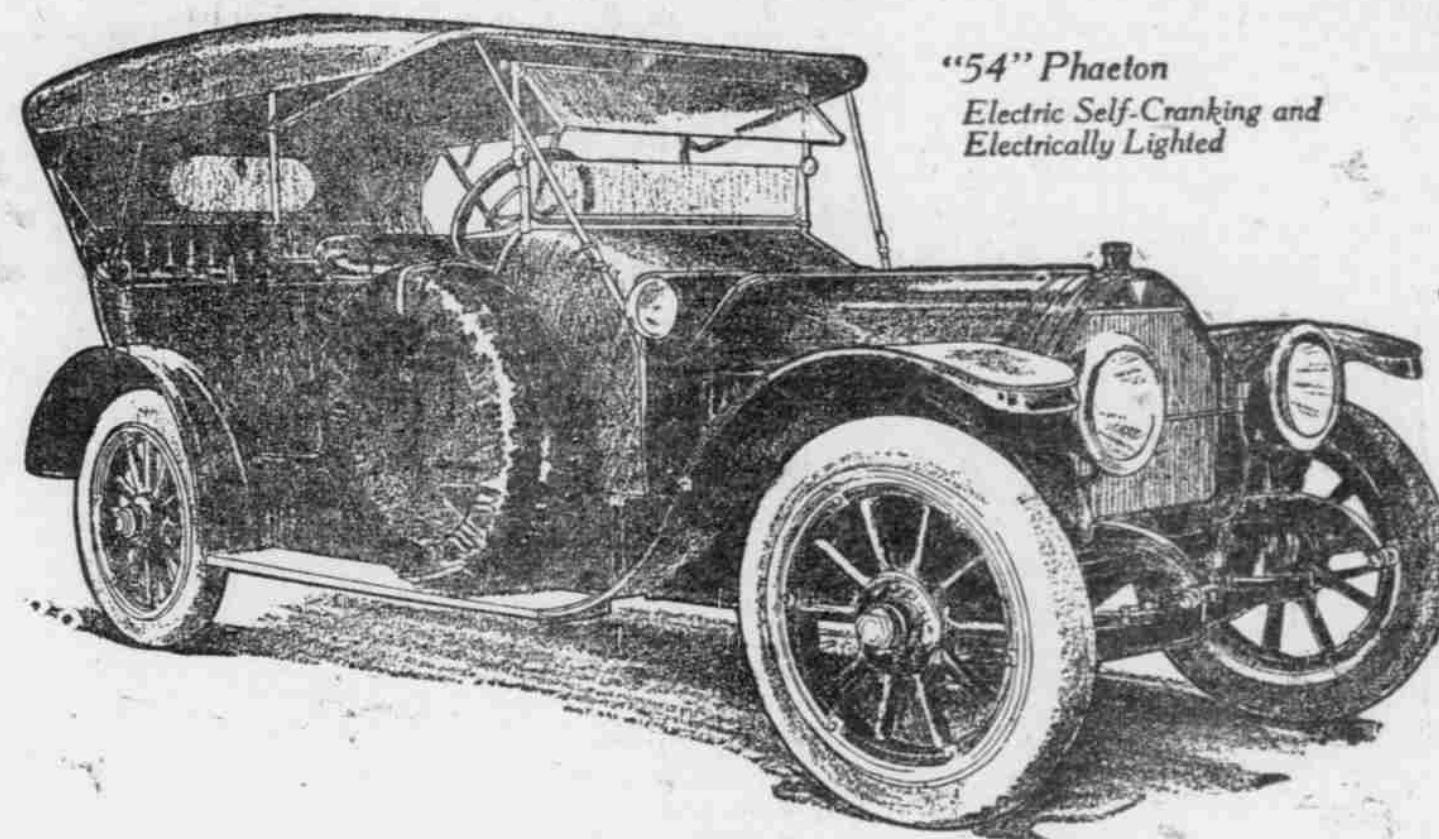

Jimmo left home Sunday morning. He had in his possession a ticket to Burlington and several dollars in money. He has a brother, Harry Jimmo, in Bristol.

Jimmo is 45 years of age. He had been traveling about the country, having come east last week from Chicago, according to his story. He made statements about passengers on the train pointing their fingers at him, and other remarks that indicated an unbalanced mind.

Thomas Burke of East Barre, a blacksmith employed by the Gibson quarry company, and a brother of Mayor James E. Burke of Burlington, died Saturday morning in the Barre hospital, where he was taken several days before after having sustained injuries in falling from a wagon. Death was due to an injury to the spinal cord near the neck, which produced paralysis in the right arm and lower limbs.

The house of Augustus R. Fisk, located about two and a half miles from Woodstock near the Hartland town line, was destroyed by fire early Monday morning. The barns and a hen-house containing 2,000 hens were saved. The house was insured for $4,000.

The World's Largest Builders of Six-Cylinder Automobiles

If You Drive a Car Then Try This Six

You will get a new idea of motor pleasure if you drive a Six.

All the things you have looked for in a motor car seem to be contained in a first class six-cylinder automobile.

It has the flexibility, power, energy, comfort and luxuriousness such as is impossible to put into any other type of car.

The HUDSON "37" is the masterpiece in four-cylinder cars. But there are distinct qualities in performances and service in a six that are not possible in a four.

This does not mean that a four will fail to please you. It means that a six will please you more.

And Why a "54" HUDSON

Motorists who know see in it the qualities which only Howard E. Coffin and his associates—48 all told—were able to build into it.

They have not produced a Six by merely adding two cylinders to a good Four. A good Six can't be built that way.

These 48 specialists, experienced in all the details of motor car building, trained in 97 European and American factories, started out to build a Six without being hampered by old manufacturing equipment and old ideas.

They had a new conception, the result of a combined wider knowledge than was perhaps ever before centered upon the designing of a motor car.

You naturally have more confidence in the diagnosis of a skilled physician than you would in the conjectures of a hundred laymen. Put equal reliance in these 48 motor experts.

Their reputation is staked on the "54" HUDSON. That is a sufficient guarantee for most buyers.

But there also are HUDSON Sixes in every section. They are doing the most abusive service that any automobile regardless of cost ever did. And they are standing up.

HUDSONS don't disappoint.

The "54" HUDSON has electric lights. It is electrically self-cranked. The famous Delco system, patented, is used. Every motor car luxury is included, speedometer, clock, top, curtains, rain-vision windshield, demountable rims, twelve-inch upholstery, etc. Equipped with a five-passenger Phaeton body at $2450.

At $1875 you can obtain the HUDSON "37"—designed by the same engineers that built the "54"—and pointed to as the "Four-cylinder masterpiece."
